Update and prayer requests from A Rocha

Our last prayer request of the early September update was answered, and rain has softened the ground and enabled Carl Jackson's Life Group to do further preparation of the plot at Wolf Fields for the wildflower meadow. In addition to the sowing done on the demonstration day, the group also participated in further sowing on Saturday 15 October.

It was a surprise to learn that Kailean Khongsai is leaving A Rocha & Wolf Fields. However, we are delighted that he does so in order to begin full-time ordination training at St. Mellitus College. He will continue to assist at Wolf Fields in training both new staff and volunteers. We look forward to meeting Kailean's successor.

Please pray for:

- Kailean and his family, Kim, Limmy & Zoui as he starts his ordination training recruitment of the right person to take over leadership of the work at Wolf Fields.
- Education officer, Ben, in promoting outdoor events and engaging with local schools and youth groups.
- More local volunteers to come forward to care for Wolf Fields.
- The sowing of the first strip of the wild flower meadow to go well and burst into life next spring.
